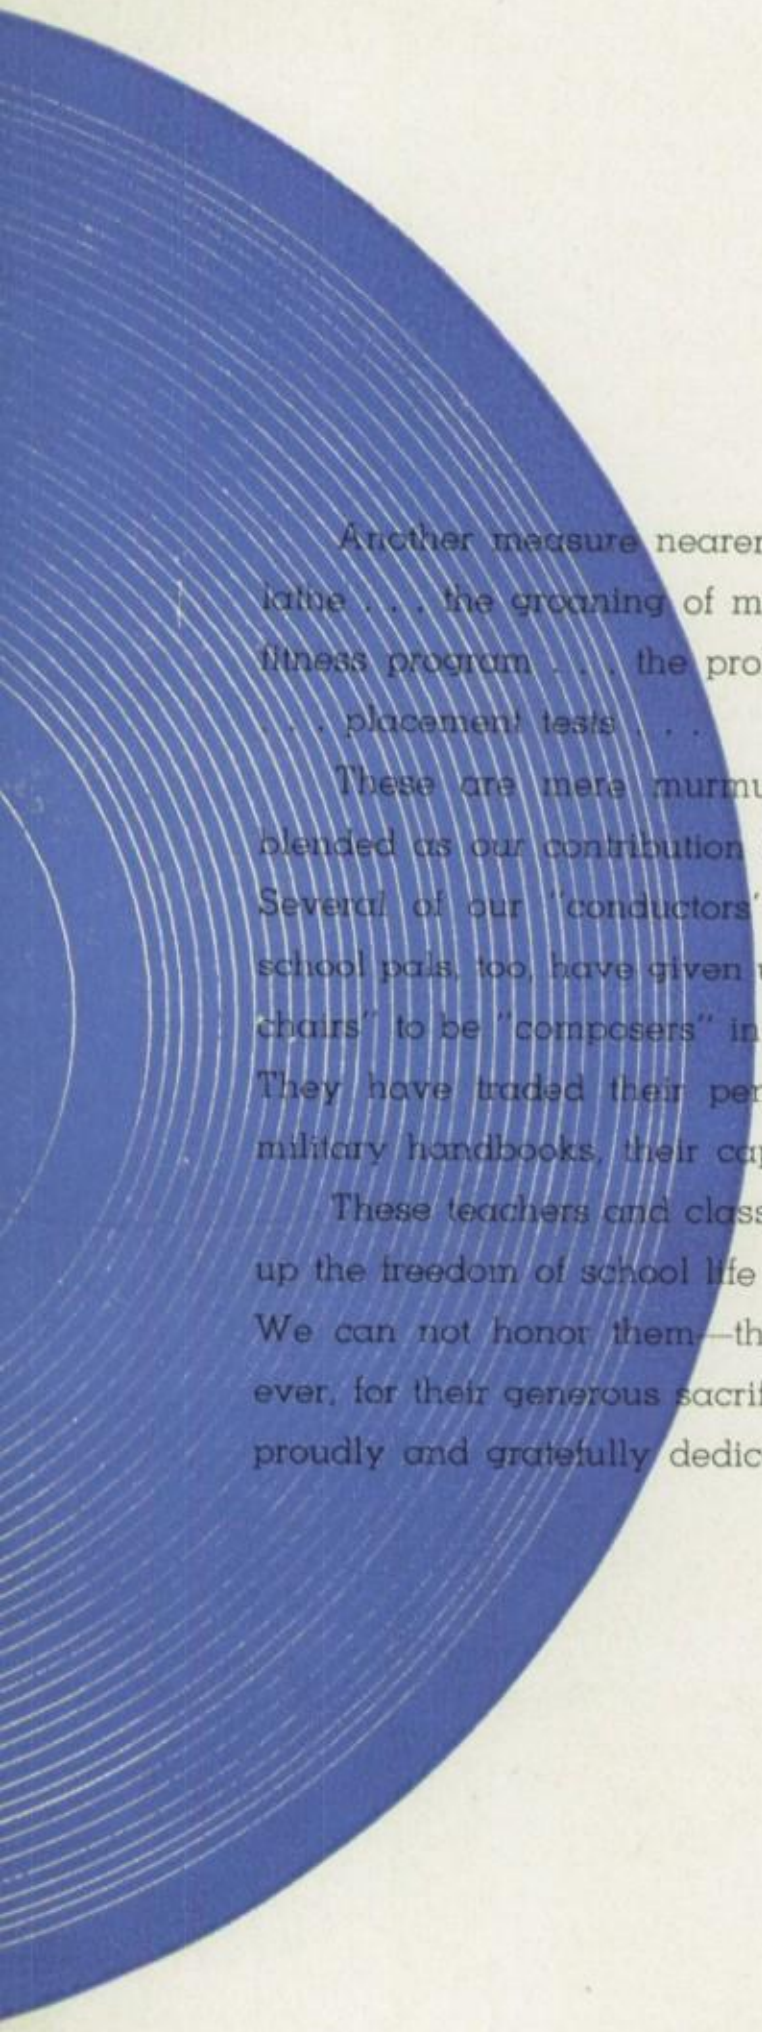
TO DEFENDERS

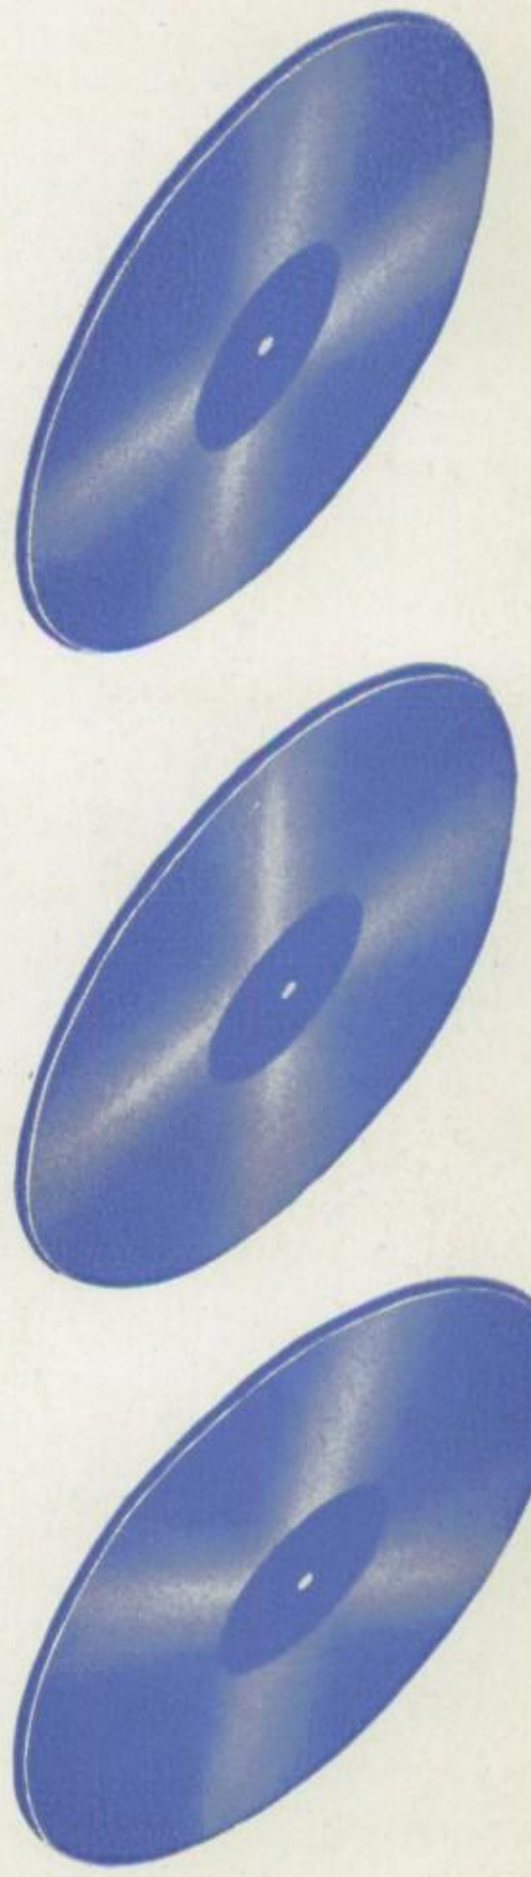
OF OUR LIBERTY



Another measure nearer victory . . . the rhythm of the latue . . . the groaning of muscles strained in the physical fitness program . . . the problems of government rationing . . . placement tests . . .

These are mere murmurs that we as students have blended as our contribution into a Symphony for Freedom. Several of our "conductors" and a few of our erstwhile school pals, too, have given up their "batons" and "players' chairs" to be "composers" in this "Symphony for Freedom." They have traded their pencils for guns, their books for military handbooks, their caps and gowns for uniforms.

These teachers and classmates have patriotically given up the freedom of school life to preserve a greater freedom. We can not honor them—they honor us. To these, however, for their generous sacrifice for us and our country, we proudly and gratefully dedicate this 28th Retro.



DIRECTORS

Behind every successful musical organization there must be a conductor who is willing to give untiringly in his effort to blend the feelings, interpretation, and desire of each separate member into a modulated whole.

In Mr. Wagner we find all the necessary qualities of leadership plus a patriotism that each of the pupils would do well to follow. Every successive civilian defense measure has found Mr. Wagner ever a more eager and valuable servant to his country. He has asked nothing of the students that he has not given a hundred-fold himself.

The prime factor of a well organized school is a perfectly operating School Board. We have been unusually fortunate this year in having a board of such fine, competent business men whose every thought is for the welfare of H. C. H. S.

Dennis Guy has served conscientiously as president of the Board for 1943. Secretary Raymond Maddox has carried on efficiently this term . Elmer Lucas has continued another successful year as Treasurer of the School Board. Miss Lelia Lewis has served as clerk of the School Board for many years. This in itself speaks for her efficiency and competency.

OF OUR RHYTHM

Every outstanding production owes a great share of its success to its "backer." Without his aid and direction through the trying months, it could never hope to have a lasting run.

We of Hartford High School look to Mr. Good as our backer and gratefully thank him for his patient work in turning us amateurs into stars. Without his good judgment in the rearrangement of our program, this production would long ago have "gone on the rocks."

It is a very comforting feeling to know that there is someone behind us who is forever looking out for the good of his stars.

There are always those assistant directors behind the great symphonies, who eagerly share the burden of smoothing the weird sounds of the practice rehearsal into harmonious accord, a symphony of real merit. Our assistant director, Miss Borden, has patiently listened to our wails and discouragement, and has conscientiously cheered us on. Her interest in us has been directed both toward our present and future welfare. She has aimed for just a little more perfection in each player than most assistant directors dare dream of. We hope she has hit her mark and we shall do our best to prove it in our future careers.

"We Prepare -

1918: Crowds cheering, flags waving, sound of marching feet, all to the tunes of "Over There," "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," "K-K-K-Katie."

1943: Crowds cheering, flags waving, sound of marching feet to the tempo of "God Bless America," "Marine Hymn," "Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition," and a score of others.

Though the titles of these war songs are different, the thoughts behind each and every one are the same, for they come from the hearts of every American who wishes to hear a record of the Symphony of Freedom.

The students of today realize that our boys who are fighting are the composers, the teachers are the conductors, and we, the students, are the instrumentalists of the Symphony of Freedom. When the teachers raise their batons, it must be with exact timing and the greatest of accuracy. Therefore, the instrumentalists must be on the alert.

Our school program has been transposed so as to meet this great need. Our students are studying over time in our machine shops, commercial classes, drafting, and other necessary courses. Our teachers are conducting night classes in order to give an opportunity to those who can only study at night. Even though some students do not earn a weekly payroll, they buy War Bonds and Stamps with their allowances.

Yes, the students can sing "God Bless America"; they can sing "Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition," "The Marine's Hymn," and all the other war songs; for these songs carry the thought of freedom and democracy —and every American boy and girl wants to be a part of the Symphony of Freedom.

- with a Song!"

Epitaph

By GLORIA NEWBERY

This graduating class of "43"
Have vowed forever and ever to be Faithful and true and ever abide
By the rules and laws of Hartford High.
We have come to this school for four years long
(Even though at times we thought it was wrong);
Our teachers dear were much concerned
And tried to see that we studied and learned.
We tried at times our best to be,
But 'twas sometimes hard for our teachers to see.
They would scold and stand us in the hall—
And we knew then our grades would fall.
But we must not be always sad
For we can think of good times had
And as we leave this school so proud
We will shout its praise, grand and loud.

Motto: "Labor Conquers All."

Colors: Blue and White. Flower: Peony

CLASS SONG

(Words and music by Martha Willman)

We're sorry to say good-bye
To dear old Hartford High,
But through the world we must wend our way
And all must do their part.
We're all amidst a tragedy
Heard all the world around,
So we must use our education
In the air or on the ground.
We'll miss all your happy faces
And all our teachers dear,
Miss junior proms and class plays
And all our friends with tears.
But there's a job that we must do
As all of you know, too.
We'll make you hear of us;
We'll make you proud of us,
Dear old Hartford High!

THE CLASS OF 1943

Wasn't it some old and wise sage—a Greek philosopher, perhaps—who said, "There will be a time when a body of seniors shall rise and put the whole world 'strictly on the beam' "? And maybe it was Galileo who looked to the stars and shouted, "Behold! I see in the future a senior class that is really 'hep'!" Wise men through the ages have kept their eyes peeled on the future and their noses in every classroom, unquestionably in quest of this superior society of seniors.

But this senior class slipped up on them. Not intentionally though—oh, no! They have been attempting since the first grade to convince their conductors of their super-intellect.

The cause has become so desperate during this, their last year, that some of the more courageous and daring have donned those untouchable, droopy, white symbols of senority. Certain individuals (practically the whole class, as a matter of fact) have thrown aside their usual role of dignity and are cast as "slap-happy." (What price one will pay for success!)

But alas! The senior cords have long since passed the stage of "tattle-tale gray." The seniors have grown "slap-happy"—and not voluntarily. Underclassmen (the lowest form of humanity) have ceased bowing, and will inherit the right to dominate the next underclassmen.

MEMOIRS

Rhythm! Tone quality! Intonation! The old saying of the music teacher that practice makes perfect certainly proves itself. For after rehearsing and practicing for four years, the Senior Class of 1943 emerged with better tone quality and with more rhythm in which to step into the world for their biggest concert of all—their future.

In our freshman year, our tempo was at a moderate rate. Miss Elzey and Mr. Kraning were our conductors and we moved along smoothly with President Bob Murphy; vice president, Rosalie Johnson; secretary, Hugh Scott; and treasurer, Helen Honey.

Our sophomore year came, and we began improving. Our tones became clearer as Mr. Warner and Mrs. Duncan held the batons. Officers were: President, Hugh Scott; vice president, Evelyn Ann Scheidler; secretary, Rosalie Johnson; and treasurer, Gerry Needler.

As the junior year rolled around, the tempo began to be more rapid. Mr. Billiard and Miss Elzey were our conductors and our officers were: President, Hugh Scott; vice president, Evelyn Ann Scheidler; secretary, Gerry Needler, and treasurer, Larry Schweier. The spotlight glimmered on the Junior-Senior Prom and Banquet at the close of the year, while the class play impressed its notes also.

Then came the big year! Mr. Mahin and Mrs. Williamson raised their batons! Ray Pemberton was president, John Brothers, vice president; Rhea Stroble, secretary; and Betty Bennett, treasurer. The tempo moved faster and faster! Senior Carnival! Benefit show! Class Play! Prom! Banquet! And then all was still—graduation.

Thus ended the Senior Class of 1943 concerts. Now, the members must move into the world as individual instrumentalists, each playing his own part in the biggest symphony of all—"The Symphony of Freedom!"

SENIOR SNAPS

A quartet of G. I. coiffures G. R. & Hi-Y Prexies

They kept theirs

"I'm going to clean this out some day" Top record breaker

An insult to Oxydol

Who is so bold, or—dare we say—so dull-witted as to envy the life of a senior?

On the first day of school our troubles begin with a bang! Will we get a Junior-Senior date? The days spent trying to acquire that dignified look are all in vain. Then the drudgery really begins. "Mr. So and So, could we interest you in the Ladies' Home Journal or Jack and Jill? You'll love them." "Don't forget to buy your 1943 Retro!" Carnival time—"Step right up and buy your ticket for the terrorizing 'Black Face Follies' . . . place your money on your choice for queen . . . have your fortune told . . . step into this show to see the scientific wonders of the ages, or put your nickel on a 'sure thing', the fish pond . . . "See our Clark Gable and Lana Turner. Buy a ticket to the Senior Class Play." "Do I have enough credits to graduate? How can I make all those up?" "Will I get the car for Junior-Senior?"

Now, if you don't think we have had our worries, our responsibilities, and our dilemmas, just you wait until you're seniors!

TWENTY

The twenty personalities on these pages were chosen by the Student Council as representatives of their various classes for the following qualities: Leadership, personality, service to the school, and scholarship. To them goes much of the credit for the successful functioning of club, class, musial, and other organizations in which they have been leaders during the school year.

RIOTOUS RECORD MAKERS

THE CLASS OF 1944

The freshmen may be fresh, the sophomores, brilliant, and the seniors, superior; but one class, although nothing in particular, is a cross-section of everything. This distinction (you should have guessed) belongs to the juniors.

A close survey of this society will reveal some realism. This usually appears at grade card time, when there is a rush to uncover the cutters of citizenship, or during a financial crisis such as a sinking fund, which brings out the ticket salesmen.

But their optimism is the thing. The jive talk they give out, the cokes they down, and the "latest boy friend" gossip (he's "super!") make their lack of dignity an art. These juniors are kids who find pleasure in going into contortions over "Juke Box Saturday Night".

Juniors are next year's seniors—and may their attitude not be stunted by the fact. It's their kind—youth with new ideas—that makes the world tick. More power to them!

. . . . and Relax

1918: Opera Houses crowded, vaudeville seething with people, men in uniforms filling the streets, baseball games, couples gliding to the tunes of "Mary," "When the Moon Comes Over the Mountain," "Yankee Doodle Dandy," and a score of others.

1943: Movies swarmed, U. S. O. canteens crowded with uniforms, football games, couples jivin to the tunes of "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy," "Little Bo Peep Has Lost Her Jeep," "Jersey Bounce."

The scenes and titles of these songs might be different, but the thoughts are the same. For all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy; human nature requires recreation. Therefore after the school work, work in war plants, and other jobs, and businesses, men, women, and students need to relax both physically and mentally. Schools offer various forms of recreation, and it makes going to school more a pleasure. These are the things we are fighting for—enjoyment the way we like it . . . individual tastes in recreation . . . the right for young voices in later years to ring with the melodies they love.

Symphonette

First row: J. Stallsmith, R. Henley, J. Burns, E. Scheidler, J. Dolan, G. Newbery, P. McCune.
Second row: J. Boyles, V. Gadbury, J. Scheidler, B. Murphy, D. Murphy, B. Fields, F. Worthen, D. Wilson, A. Howard, S. Townsend, B. Clark.
Third row: J. Hayden, J. Brothers, B. Kline, B. Secrest, E. Stroud, G. Schwartzkopf, Jr. Brown, I. Girod, D. Helms, B. Telle, H. Miller, B. Simison.
Fourth row: B. Daniels, C. Ridgeway, S. Roderick, J. Pruden, Mr. Brittain, H. Wilson.

The Hartford City High School Symphonette! (Isn't that name classical?) And the music—it is just as striking! If you could hear the organization, you would think it almost comparable to the New York Symphony, with its sweet, melodious, soothing, classical music.

The director is Elwin LeRoy Brittan. He is patiently working to improve the tone quality, dynamics, and style of his future Heifitz or Artie Shaw. The Symphonette made its initial appearance at the William Reed School to play for the junior class play.

Senior Band

First row: J. Burns, E. Scheidler, J. Dolan, H. Weslie, J. Smith, P. McCune.
Second row: L. Hyde, D. Cheeseman, F. Kirtpatrick, M. Dixon, B. Hupe, P. McCune, B. Murphy, D. Murphy, B. Fields, F. Worthen, M. Sutton, J. Hayden, G. Newbery, S. Townsend.
Third row: M. Secrest, J. Gough, G. Andre, B. Kline, B. Secrest, E. Stroud, E. Markin, Jr. Tatman, B. Lamott, R. Farling, M. Jones, W. McIntire, T. Church, A. Howard, N. Wilhems, F. Lane, O. Wallace, B. Clark, L. Haynes, B. Simison.
Fourth row: J. Parks, B. Reasoner, B. Crimmel, B. Daniels, C. Ridgeway, B. Kriegbaum, T. Howard, N. Miller, S. Roderick, P. Guy, D. Helms, N. Morris, G. Guy, B. McColly, H. Wilson, H. Green, G. Schwartzkopf, I. Girod.
Fifth row: M. Wilson, B. Hammitt, V. Johnson, B. Good, J. Mahorney, M. Kriegbaum, M. Burns, S. Harvey.

"Strike Up the Band"—and we don't mean "Alexander's Rag Time Band." We are speaking of the old gold and black Schoolegians—the seventy-five piece musical organization known as the Hartford City High School Band. This group has won unusual praise at all school and public functions. They strut and they play—their programs ranging from the sacred and classical to jazz, swing rhythm, and Sousa's marches, and, at times, they have stooped even to the rhumba and conga.

They have also rhythm in their collective and individual "soles." Flashing down the street on dress parade, with snappy drum majorettes and classy flag twirlers, the band makes an appearance rivaling that of royalty; and truly the band is composed of kings and queens of the realm of music.

Director

Mr. Brittan

Instrumental music means a great deal to our school. It has been furthered by the capable work of Mr. Brittan. Our thanks go to him for his co-operative spirit and skillful direction.

Junior Band

First row: D. Snow, C. Hildebrand, S. Monroe, S. Hyde, B. Ayres, K. Williams, M. Amos, L. Lake, B. Needler, R. McKee.
Second row: P Huston, B. Jenkins, B. Cox, D. Kimmel, M. Knoop, R. Coons, J. Chaney, L. Lambert, V. Royce, F. Alexander, B. Bates, J. Crimmel, S. Wallace, F. Cheesman, D. Risinger.
Third row: F. Smith, P. Maddox, D. Poivre, T. Brown, S. Sills, B. Markin, A. McIntire, G. Kyle, J. Rosenbaum, P. May, G. Farling, F. Sills, B. Davis, A. Harvey, G. Leech, B. Hildebrand, D. Jones, B. Linder, R. Lake, J. Boyles, B. Willman, F. Knoderer, Jr. Cook, H. Peterson, B. Gadbury.
Fourth row: P. Quitty, A. Ernest, J. Bates, B. Roderick, C. Suite, B. Zimmerman, F. Gray, V. Johnson, L. Slater, M. Brittan, J. Landaker, A. Shoup, B. Boyer, M. Huffman, L. Bates

The Junior High School Band—the oncoming musicians—are not lacking in any of the class and style which makes up such an organization. In their gold and black capes and white ducks, they go strutting down the gym floor and street to the usual "rut-a-tut-tut" of the drums. They all enjoy the playing and marching which enables them to secure ring side seats at the ball games.

The whole band, ranging from the tuba to the piccolo and from the cymbals to the marimba, plays classical as well as college marches for their performances. Although they have not advanced to the rhumba stage, they are well on the way, not only in rhumba, but also to the vacant chairs left in the Senior Band by the twenty-two graduating members.

Girls' Glee Club

First row: V. Campbell, M. Elliott, P. Atkinson, N. Hardwick, M. Houseman, A. Landis, K. Williams, R. Miller, B. Byler, A. Harvey, B. Landis, W. Cline, B. Bonham, M. Huffman, P. Wishon, F. Melton, J. Gosnell, A. Funk.
Second row: M. Cline, B. Thornburg, M. Willman, L. Maddox, J. Storer, A. Earnest, L. Lambert, P. Feaster, P. Shatto, B. Kirkwood, J Culbertson, M. Pruden, S. Stone, J. Cooper, W. Tomlinson, V. Dilly, F. Alexander.
Third row: T. Woolard, P. Parkinson, V. James, B. Thomason, J. Alexander, V. Sills, B. Price, B. Sorensen, M. Cooper, L. Wentz, D. Kravis, F. Howell, G. Newbery, R. Townsend, M. Secrest, F. Lake, J. Lanning, H. Gross, M. James.
Fourth row: P. Zeek, P. Lange, J. Linder, A. Futrell, D. Baker, J. Landaker, B. Ratliff, J. Johnsonbaugh, E. David, A. Wilson, F. McCrum, J. Perry, W. Black, J. Frahm, J. Claytor, M. Dixon, B. Ford, M. DuBois, N. Byler.
Fifth row: Miss Nesbit, A. Shoup, G. Shawhan, E. DuBois, M. Anderson, A. Stout, M. Burns, H. Knight, B. Tucker, D. Jones, B. Hammitt, R. Good, J. Hayden, M. McKee, J. Townsend, F. Baker, V. Davis, R. Dutton, M. Sebring, Sixth row: M. Wiles, P. Mahorney, M. Stiffler, M. Willliams, B. Fulton, H. Honey, S. King, S. Roderick, M. Knoop, M. Rhine, D. Lane, P. Crouse, E. Alexander, V. Winget, E. Scheidler, B. Woolard.

Do-re-mi-fa-so-la-te-do — all in tune. The vibrant voices of the Girls' Glee Club can still be heard echoing through the halls of Hartford City High every Tuesday and Thursday morning, and behind the closed doors of the various classrooms drowsy students are brought from their stupor. After a few bars, however, they are revived, especially when the Glee Club's prodigy hits a high "C". Seriously, though, our Girls' Glee Club is superb in their mastery of vocalization, and deserves a bouquet from all students.

Boys' Glee Club

Row one: J. Lytle, K. Hurst, S. Cook, R. Reynolds, C. Price, B. Cole, J. Luellen, R. Evilsizer, J. Stone, D. Jones.
Row Two: B. Roderick, D. O'Connell, J. Fisher, B. Wilkins, G. Wentz, B. Crawford, B. Warner, H. Goldsberry, G. Farling, E. VanHorn.
Row Three: B. Bales, D. Wilson, M. James, B. Shady, C. Cavanaugh, M. Atkinson, J. Shoup, J. Dolan, R. Hardwick, P. Miller, J. Miller, R. Dodds.
Row Four: J. Buffenbarger, J. Kile, J. Rabbitt, D. Bolner, R. Dorton, F. Patterson, D. Helms, C. Dodds, D. McConey, B. Wagner, B. Whitecotton.

"Glee Club" is an appropriate name for this organization of young male voices. They open blue Monday mornings with a song. Their repertoire ranges from "My Old Kentucky Home" to "This Is the Army, Mr. Jones"; and it must be said that each mood and variety is done equally well.

Sextette

M. Willman, J. Hayden, B. Hammitt, R. Good, M. Burns, A. Stout.

The prima donnas of our high school have put their heads together and come to the conclusion that six voices are better than one. How right they have proved to be! Numerous organizations who have heard our sextette will vouch for this fact and in all probability add some more compliments to their ever growing list.

With all sincerity we hope that in the future we shall always be fortunate in having just such a talented group —always ready, willing, and able to entertain for our school functions and civic organizations.

Director

Miss Nesbit

"Music hath charm." So does our musical director, Miss Nesbit. Her work as a director and friend has been of incalculable value in raising the cultural tone of the school.

Junior Prom

Soft lights, sweet music, splashes of color, swish of formals, a South American setting—all of these being to us the nostalgic memories of our first Junior-Senior Prom.

After weeks of planning, of untiring labor, of excited anticipation, the great night finally arrived. As the juniors and seniors (now transformed from their usual casual appearance into models of fashion) stepped into a gym of South American gayety, Allan Hoff and his troubadors serenaded them. All were in the mood—dancing, talking, and thoroughly enjoying the biggest event of their junior year.

Suddenly the center of attraction was focused on the crowning of our tangerine, Rhea Stroble, Queen of the Ball. Then she and Hugh Scott, president of the junior class, led the Grand March.

After several hours had passed, we sadly realized that our prom must end. But we juniors were lucky; we had another year to look forward to.

You are lodged near the top of the bleachers on four inches of board which you have previously obtained through much physical effort and bodily injury. Now you are trying to watch our boys warm up. Between shoves and barrages of candy wrappers you get glimpses of them, and suddenly, when you wonder what quarter it is, a deathly silence prevails, a ball goes up at center, and the game has begun.

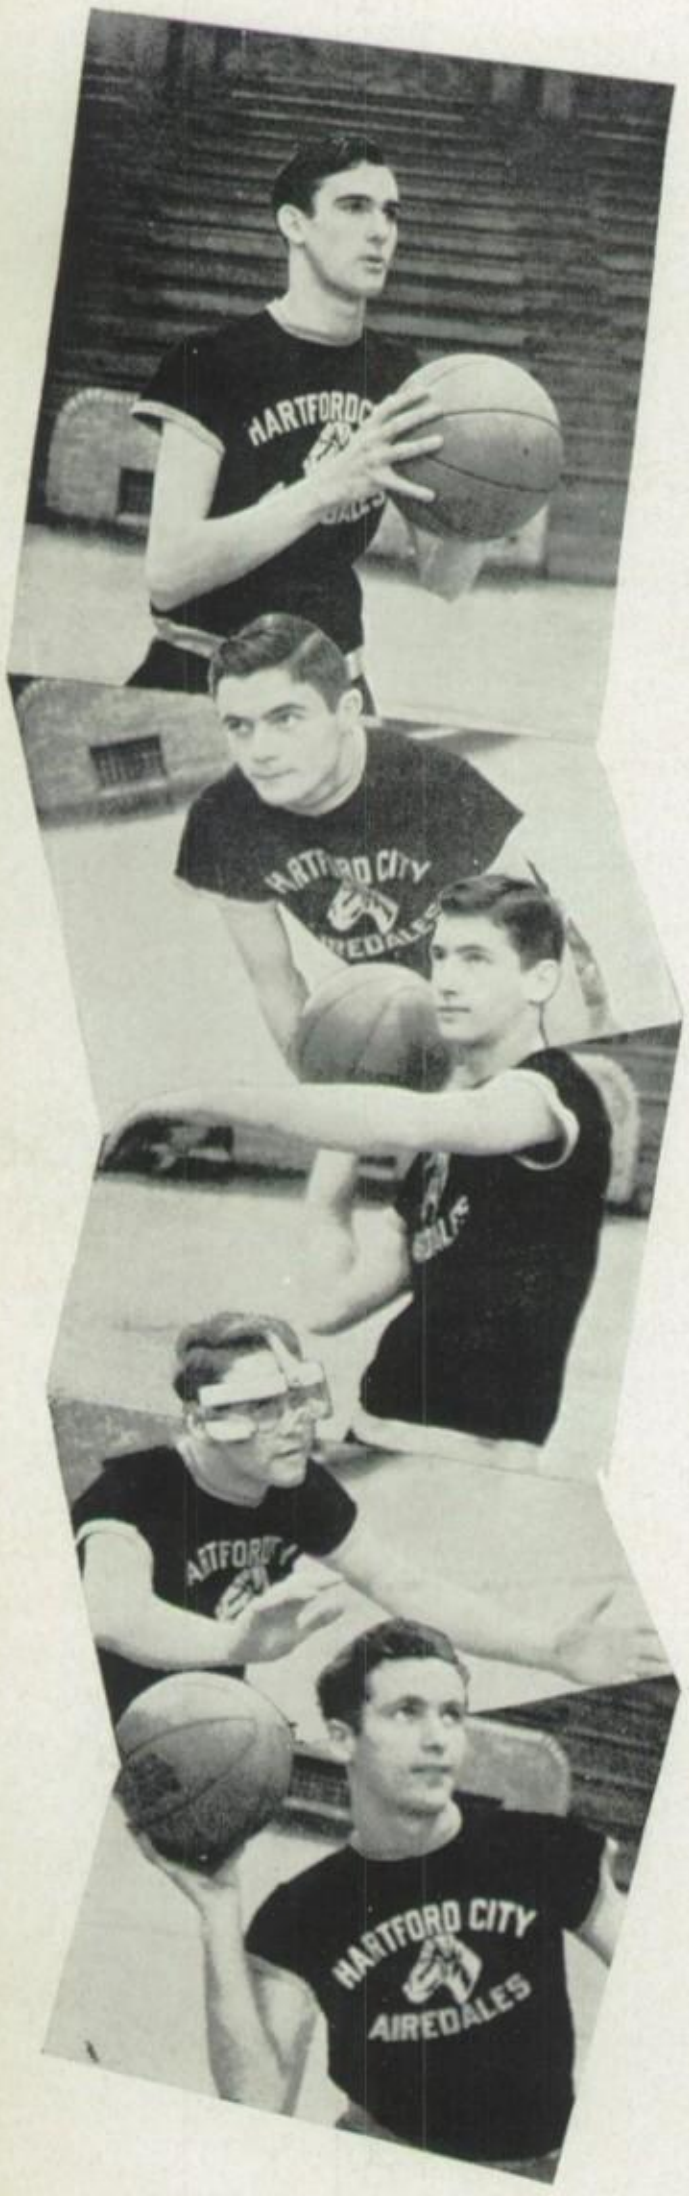
There's a lot to the game. Everyone stands up, so you arise and someone in back yells maliciously, "Down in front!" So you sit down—or get knocked down. Also everyone is asking everybody else who made the last basket. Once in a while you can spot Wanda, Jerry, and "Pump" giving out with gusto, and the band emerges and demonstrates its maneuverability.

Then "bang!" And you are carried along with the mob.

Someone says, "Nice game, wasn't it?"

You say, "Yeah."

Mac Myers faithfully devoted his last year in school to the welfare of the team. He was capably and cheerfully assisted by Bill Cooper. Their work was deeply appreciated by the team and also by the school as a whole. We are sure that Bill will keep up the good work.



Airedales

DICK DORTON . . . carrying on the family's tradition, did his share for the team. His height and effectiveness with his left hand have given the team strength that will be hard to replace.

NEAL GARDNER . . . "Soapy" served as captain of this year's team. His drive and fight will be sorely missed next year, as he is a senior. He was also one of the team's highest scorers.

JACK DOLAN, JR. . . . while Jack was slowed down by a period of illness, he still gave a good account of himself with his long shots and brilliant defensive play. Jack is a senior and his equal will be difficult to produce.

BOB MURPHY . . . while Bob did not play in every game, he was always doing his best while in action. His fine spirit and disposition were a great help to the Airedales. His vacancy will be hard to fill.

GEORGE FULLER . . . George was always in there fighting until the last gun. He, too, is a senior player and his absence from the squad will be severely felt.

Airedales

JACK BECKLEY . . . After playing a good brand of ball early in the season with the second team, Jack was promoted to a place on the Airedales. He broke into the lineup several times and proved himself worthy of the promotion.

GENE LANDIS . . . Gene, too, started the year playing on the second team. His fine performance earned him a place on the varsity later in the season. Gene is a Junior.

DICK ANDERSON . . . Dick's ability on offense and defense always sparked the team along. He was on hand when called upon and always gave a good account of himself. Being a junior, he should be heard from quite often next year.

GENE JOHNSON . . . "Monk's" height was of great value on rebounds under both baskets. His shooting ability gained him the honor of the team's high point man. His work at center won him a place on the All-Star Sectional team.

JOE CAIN . . . Gaining skill as the year progressed, Joe finished as one of the top five. A junior, he will be around again next year to haunt our opponents with his height and offensive skill.

Kiwanis Sportsmanship Award

Continuing a tradition of sixteen years, the local Kiwanis Club has again selected from the ranks of the school's graduating athletes that student whose record is outstanding in point of sportsmanship.

Neal Gardner, who has captained the Airedales through the past season, is the winner of the 1943 trophy. His conscientiousness and dependability have gained for him a popularity and respect indicative of his worthiness of this highest possible distinction for an athlete of H. C. H. S.

Boys' Sports

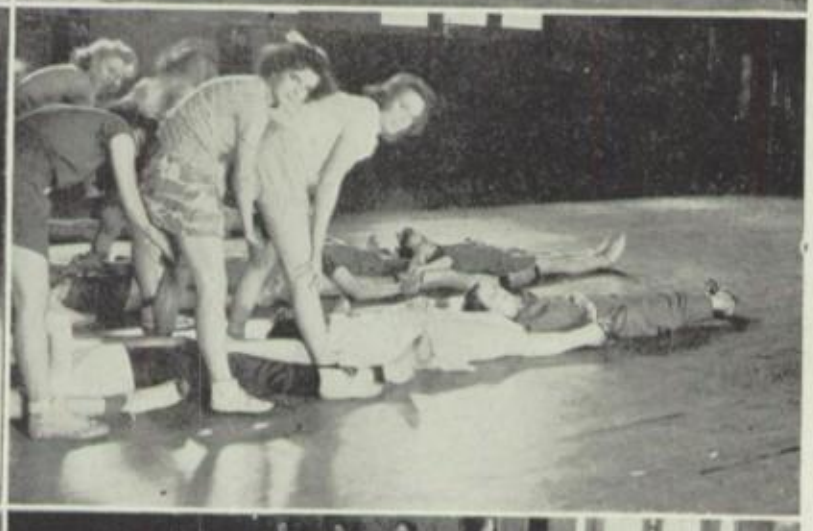
"All right. Put the balls down and line up!" And we gradually obey orders. This is the beginning to a period of much physical torture which might (and usually does) begin thus:

"'Tention—count off by fours!"

"One;" "two;" "three;" "four;" . . . "five!"

We'll skip a bit of this same stuff and get down to work—real work and no horseplay. The guys drag through a mess of calisthenics and try their hands at suicide on the horse and mats. Then, when the fight's all out of them, they box. If they can still crawl to the dressing room, they're thrown into the swimming pool. This class is strictly the "survival of the fittest."

As proof that a few do survive and the Army is going to get the "supermen" they want, "Brownie" and Allman swung the gloves around successfully at Muncie.



Girls' Sports

CRACK . . . CRACK . . . GROAN . . . Ooohhhhh . . . Don't mind. It's just the junior and senior girls moving about as well as is possible. They got a little rusty.

During these days when everyone and everything is governed by the urge of national defense, these girls are no exceptions.

ONE—TWO—THREE—FOUR . . . Now, girls, raise arms upward, one; rise on toes, two; down into a squat, three; attention, four . . . Now you may go dress quietly, please. CRASH . . . BANG . . . Booey . . . Who kicked me? . . . Quit pushin'! . . . Come on, hurry up! . . . Boy, am I sore! . . . What about me? I did more squats than you did . . . I sure wish we could go down and play in the new gym, but the boys always have it . . . Some fun, the Virginia Reel . . . Girls! Girls! Too much noise down here—and will you stop singing? . . . There goes the bell now. Hurry up, or you'll be late to class . . . Okay, Herbie.

First aid tomorrow . . . Gee Whiz! Am I tired! !
